

HOW MANY POPPIES?

Why are the ANZACS represented by a little red flower?

After endless days of misery, the first sign of hope came in the form of a little red flower.

They are very delicate and pretty to look at but they symbolise something far more.

Each flower, like each soldier, has a story of being bold and strong.

Their blossoming in a place of destruction reminds us that we should never lose faith and that there is beauty in everything.

LEST WE FORGET...
