Statement of significance:

This tree fulfils the criteria of:

- Outstanding Size
- Aesthetic Value
- Outstanding Example of Species

This mature Sugar Gum has a very large, spreading canopy with good foliage density and significant trunk girth. It is located in a prominent and highly visible position, providing a major contribution to the local neighbourhood character. It has remarkably good health and structure for a Sugar Gum of this size and age, possibly planted as a windbreak by early colonial settlers in the area.

Native to South Australia this species is now naturalised throughout much of Victoria. The size and prominence of this tree likely makes it significant to a range of native birdlife.
